S&P Global Platts increases support of OIES Research

LONDON, Oct. 24, 2019 /PRNewswire/ -- S&P Global Platts, the leading independent provider of information and benchmark prices for the commodities and energy markets, today announced that it has agreed to enhance its charitable support of the Oxford Institute for Energy Studies by putting in place arrangements that enable OIES research fellows to access Platts historical Oil, Natural Gas, LNG and Power pricing data to underpin their research across all aspects of energy markets.

Bassam Fattouh, Director, OIES said: "Having access to S&P Global Platts data is a valuable research tool that allows our fellows to better analyse the economics and politics of international energy markets, work for which the OIES is renowned."

Martin Fraenkel, President, S&P Global Platts added: "The OIES is a world leading independent energy research institute and we are pleased to deepen our benefactor relationship by providing their research fellows with our market leading benchmark pricing data to support their research."

S&P Global Platts will continue to support OIES at its events and looks forward to increasing cooperation on future research projects.

OIES fellows will access Platts data via their Refinitiv Eikon terminals.
